

Judges and scientists were so impressed with your science fair project that they have asked you and your team to design the perfect winter snow boots. They must be comfortable, waterproof, and able to securely maneuver any environment - and they should have a few amazing features as well. Design your boots and write about their properties.

A large rectangular area with a light blue background and horizontal black lines, intended for drawing and writing. The background image is a faded winter scene with trees and a street lamp.